

Fixed decisions, varying cost: where the edge disappears

Net return falls monotonically across the three cases: True. Breakeven sits at 0.62x the modelled cost, so the gross edge is exhausted well below the costs an actual desk would pay.